

TRAILNET'S guiding principles and priorities for city, county, and state policy are to:

IMPROVE safety for people using core transportation: biking, walking, and public transit

PRIORITIZE financially sustainable funding that supports core transportation

ADVANCE racially-equitable transportation practices and increase equitable access to core transportation

REDUCE transportation's negative contribution to personal health outcomes, local environmental impacts and global climate change

INCREASE public and neighborhood-level engagement in transportation projects and policy decisions

SUPPORT fair enforcement of traffic laws that protect vulnerable road users

SUPPORT affordable, sustainable, and maintainable transportation-focused housing and economic development
